

International Journal of Action Research

Volume 3, Issue 1-3, 2007

Special issues

Diversity of Action Research: Experiences and Perspectives

by Richard Ennals, Werner Fricke, Øyvind Pålshaugen

Interactive Research

by Lennart Svensson, Per-Erik Ellström, Goran Brulin

Editorials

Editorial to issue 1+2 Werner Fricke	6-8
Editorial to issue 3 Werner Fricke	229-232

Articles

Mobilising and Nurturing Collaboration in Research – the Value of a Focused Imagination Petter Ahlström, Fredrik Nilsson, Nils-Göran Olve	297-323
Action Research as an Enhancement of Natural Problem Solving Bob Dick	149-189
Why Should Mainstream Social Researchers Be Interested in Action Research? Olav Eikeland	38-64

Pragmatic Action Research Davydd Greenwood	131-148
Other Sides of the Coin. A Feminist Perspective on Robustness in Science and Knowledge Production Ewa Gunnarsson	349-363
Research Responses to Practical Challenges: What Can Action Research Contribute? Bjørn Gustavsen	93-111
Relational and Existential Challenges of Practicing Dialogic Action Research – Working with Social Concrete Blocks in Organizations Marianne Kristiansen	15-37
Improving Learning Capabilities: A Case Study of an Inde- pendent Research Unit in Interaction with the Local Community Casten von Otter	324-348
Introduction: On the Diversity of Action Research Øyvind Pålshaugen	9-14
With What Kind of Science Should Action Research Be Contrasted? John Shotter	65-92
Research and Social Transformation: Notes about Method and Methodology in Participatory Research Danilo R. Streck	112-148
Introduction – on Interactive Research Lennart Svensson, Per-Erik Ellström, Göran Brulin	233-249

- Interactive Research –
an Attempt to Analyse two Change Programmes 250-277
Lennart Svensson, Jörgen Eklund, Hanne Randle, Gunnar Aronsson
- It's Being Close that Makes it Possible to Accept Criticism! 278-296
Lotta Svensson
- Reflections from an Action Researcher:
Why We Do What We Do 168
Margaret H. Vickers
- Making Space for Difference:
The CARPP Approach to Action Research 190-214
Gill Coleman, Margaret Gearty
- Book review
- Shaw, Ian F. / Greene, Jennifer C. / Mark, Melvin M. (Eds.)
(2006): The Sage Handbook of Evaluation 215-223
reviewed by Thomas Widmer
- Announcement
- The 15th ICSD Symposium – Seeking Harmony and Promoting
Social Development in a World of Conflict 224