

International Journal of Action Research

Volume 12, Issues 1-3, 2016

Editorials

Editorials

Danilo Streck

5-7, 113-115, 221-223

Articles

Action Research as a leadership strategy for innovation:
The case of a global high-technology organisation

Grant Allen, Ken Dovey

8-37

How can teachers motivate students to study theoretical modules in public relations?

Layla AlSaqer

272-293

Participatory Action Research in Argentina:
New expressions at the field of social movement's militant action. An account of experience

Marina Ampudia

191-215

University students' support to an NGO that helps children with cancer: Lessons learned in thirteen academic projects

João Alberto Arantes do Amaral, Erica Okazaki

38-58

Challenges of participation in cross-cultural Action Research

Sirkku Männikkö Barbutiu

224-247

Retrieving a philosophy of practical knowing for Action Research

David Coghlan

84-107

Recognising participants' professional identities through analysis of narratives in educational Action Research Eleni Katsarou, Vassilis Tsafos	248-271
Participatory hierarchies: A challenge in organizational Action Research Marianne Kristiansen, Jørgen Bloch-Poulsen	144-171
'There and back again': International Collaboration for Participatory Health Researchers' journeys to evidence based practice and practice based evidence Wendy Madsen	294-314
Paulo Freire and the methodology of thematic investigation for permanent teacher education Ana Maria Saul, Alexandre Saul	59-83
Commitment and regulation: Ethics in research and the human sciences Emil A. Sobottka	116-143
"Today we are treated like a human being!" Methodological strategies of Action Research with family farmers' practitioners of the slash-and-burn system in Southern Brazil Cintia Uller Gómez, Reney Dorow	172-190
Book Review Action Research and democracy from the Scandinavian perspective Book Review by Telmo Adams, Paloma Daudt, Carolina Nunes Ramos	315-324