Raoul Üksvärav
(1928 – 2016)

A member of the Honorary Board of the Journal of East European Management Studies, professor Raoul Üksvarav passed away the first of February. He served Tallinn Technical University in the chair of Management and Planning from 1958 till his retirement in in 1989. After it, he was a member of the first Parliament of independent Estonia and a counsellor of the president of Estonia.

Professor Üksvarav was among the founding fathers of the academic cooperation between East and West during and after the long night of the Soviet rule. It was his endeavour and vision to see Estonia back in the Western Europe, academically, managerially and other ways. He was happy to see his vision come true. JEEMS was an important actor to him in this development.
